

Conferences on the Progress Report

Instead of formally holding class next week, I will be meeting with teams to review progress report drafts. Please note:

- You may sign up for one or more conferences that the entire team will attend, or divide yourselves into sub-teams with different appointments if you feel this would be more effective.
- Timeslots are in 15-minute increments; you can sign up for two or three in a row if desired. Keep in mind that 15 minutes is not very long.
- Each member of the team is required to attend at least one conference. In other words, teams may not designate certain people to “represent” the rest of the team. This is taking the place of a class; anyone who does not come to a conference will be charged with an absence.
- Emailing drafts in advance is strongly encouraged. If this is not possible, be prepared with specific questions.
- Conferences will be held in the area with the comfy chairs outside of the classrooms unless otherwise arranged.
